

From the Editor

This issue included the second focused section of this volume, Digital Fabrication and Functional Printing. I want to express my gratitude to the two Guest Editors, Dr. James Stasiak and Dr. Jolke Perelaer. During the past year, they put in significant effort contacting authors and coordinating independent reviews that resulted in the seven articles included in this focused issue. We hope to continue this practice and publish quality digital fabrication articles in future focused sections as well as regular issues of this journal.
