

New Ink Jet Photographic Media

Hiroyuki Onishi, Seiko Epson, Nagano, Japan

Abstract

The photographic image quality with ink Jet printer is realized by the effects of the progress of not only printing Head, recording ink and color management but also recording IJ media.

We have developed the new recording media that make realization of the photographic image quality for next generation.

In this report, we will explain the performance of this new ink jet photographic media.

Author Biography

Hiroyuki Onishi is a manager of in the corporate R&D Div of Seiko Epson Corporation. He received his B.E.in chemical engineering from Kanazawa University Japan in1986. He is working on the R&D of ink jet recording media.